

Different loss functions can lead to different point estimates

